Bird Watching Life Lists Keeping A Record

If youre a birder, you want to keep a list of sightings when you bird watch. Your life lists should be kept in a bird watching journal.Life ListA life list is a record of the species of birds youve sighted over time. Typically, the list is kept in a journal. Each entry notes the bird species, the date, location and any notes you want to add. Depending on your particular bird watching exploits, you can keep one global list or separate lists as you see fit.For many bird watchers, one life list simply isnt enough. So, how can you break down your lists? Here are a few ideas:1. House Lists A list of birds sighted around your home.2. Yearly Lists A list for each year you 4 day masai mara safari bird watch.3. State Lists A list for sighting by particular state.4. Trip Lists Journals for particular bird watching vacations or tours.5. Wish Lists A list of birds you havent seen, but hope to. You simply cross them off as sightings occur.

Computer Life ListsYou can purchase computer life list programs or use online variations. Each program is different, but most https://masaimarasafaripackages.net/4-day-safari/ come in a checklist format. You enter information and the program spits out your list.The problem with using computer programs iswell, the computer aspect. Unless you are willing to lug a laptop around with you, there is going to be a delay between sightings and your journal entries. Using a computer program is also troublesome if you want to keep a collection of sketches of particular species youve identified. For most birders, a computer list is a supplement to a good journal, not a replacement.Bird watching is an extremely personal passion. If youre just starting, you may think you dont need to keep a life list. The problem with this approach, of course, is you will regret the decision if you later decide to do so. All those sightings will be gone with timeIf youre going to start bird watching, make sure you keep a life list journal from the outset. As I like to say, Preserve the experience!