A honeymoon in the Mara usually pairs three or four safari nights with a beach finale. Diani, Watamu and Zanzibar are the common add-ons, with short flights from Nairobi or Mombasa.

The safari half works best in a small conservancy camp with private dinners and a https://masaimarasafaripackages.net/flying-safari/ balloon flight. The beach half needs a resort that matches the pace you want after early game drives.

September and February are the sweet spot for weather and value. December is busy and expensive. Plan the sequence carefully: safari first, beach second, because early mornings are easier before you decompress. Sample bush to beach itineraries are at %LINK%.
