Two hundred and four people have taken the time to write a Google review of Redland Roofing Cardiff, and 187 of them left five stars. That adds up to a 4.8 rating, which is a useful starting point if you're comparing roofers in Cardiff, but the more interesting part is what those customers actually talk about. Read enough of them and clear patterns appear, and they say a lot about how this family-owned roofing contractor, run by John Owen from Trecinon Road in Rumney, goes about its work. Speed is the biggest theme by some distance. Quick response comes up in 21 reviews, more than any other topic, with customers describing same-day or next-day visits after they first got in touch. That fits with the way the business runs, open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with 24/7 emergency roof repair callouts. Chimney removal is the next most mentioned job, appearing in 14 reviews, followed by flat roof replacement in nine. Leak assessment, new gutters, lead replacement, competitive quotes and thorough inspections all feature too. Several customers mention John explaining the problem clearly, answering questions patiently and sending before-and-after photos and videos during the job. Some reviews describe larger or more unusual jobs. One customer had a full re-roof, with scaffolding, the roof stripped back to the rafters, a new breathable membrane, treated battens, sound tiles reused and damaged ones replaced, then new fascias and gutters. Another had squirrel damage repaired, dry verge caps fitted and a rotting chimney removed. A landlord living more than 250 miles away mentions receiving photos throughout, which made it possible to manage the work from a distance. And one customer compared quotes from 8 to 10 roofers before choosing Redland Roofing Cardiff, which says something about both the price and the way the quote was explained.
